

All actual Seiko 5 come with either with 7S26 movement (no hand wind option - present mainly in SKX, SNZ, SNK series) and the upgraded 4R35 (and variants) present in SRP watches. The ...

The Seiko 5 movement should have a power reserve of about 30 to 40 hours if you wear it all the time. I don't know what it is about Seiko, but there's been a lot of problems ...

That model does not have hand winding. You have to wear it for a while to build up the power reserve. Wear it for a few days, all day long and then it should have about 40 hours of power ...

I've got a new Seiko 5 watch, and while it seems to have a power reserve of about 40 hours, it seems as though it takes at least six hours of use to charge the thing up. Is ...
