Could Singapore sit at the 'core' of new energy grids in Southeast Asia?

Singapore could sit at the "core" of new regional electricity grids in Southeast Asia, with proposed interconnections to neighbouring countries set to bring 25GW of new renewable power and energy storage projects online. This is according to Rystad Energy, which published a report into Singapore's role in the Southeast Asian energy mix this week.

What is happening in South-East Asia?

The situation is even more dire in South-east Asia, with a staggering 80 per cent of the energy mix dominated by these finite resources. This alarming scenario necessitates immediate action to avert an impending energy crisis and detrimental climate change impact, stirring concern and motivating us to act.
